

Drive Data Camera

Price From £499

Track-day videos can only ever show the action from outside the car. Real petrolheads want the driver's eye view with an engine on song giving the sound track. The quality of some of the race cameras on the market leaves a bit to be desired but Drive Data provide cameras for the McLaren F1 team and they don't use second rate kit. Drive Data's new DR2 Video Recorder uses a solid state recorder with the footage going direct to a compact flash card. An 8Gb card will hold over 2 hours at 25fps and it will record at either MPEG2 for DVD or MPEG4 for the web. Call Drive Data on 08707 607044 to find your nearest stockist.

Honda S2000 Brake Discs

£599

Project Mu SCR-PRO high performance brake discs for the S2000 are designed for high power cars, heavy track use and endurance racing. The two-piece design is heat-treated for reliability, durability and thermal stability. The billet alloy bells reduce unsprung weight and the discs are slotted and dimpled for maximum performance and have an internal vane to improve heat dissipation. Call VTEC Direct with the promotional code PPC-Mu for an 8% discount (£567). 0670 288 9302.

Pipercross XL induction kit

Price £79.43

The basic physics of getting more power from an engine is to get more air and fuel into the combustion chambers and to get the spent gases out quicker. Pipercross have addressed the air aspect of this principal for a wide range of cars at a stroke with their new XL range of foam filtered induction kits. Suitable for E30 and E36 BMWs using a Bosch ECU, Mk 2 VW Golfs and 8-valve Vauxhall Astras the 200mm filter has a strong aluminium neck and a full radius ram pipe inside. Go to pipercross.com for more details.

